SAFETY NEWS

Keeping Safety in Sight

Nothing is too Small!

See It. Say It. Protect Everyone.

Hazards don't always announce themselves—but once you see one, the responsibility is shared. A leaking pipe, a wet floor, or a blocked walkway can quickly turn into a serious injury if it goes unaddressed. Safety is not just about fixing the problem; it's about communicating the risk. Use signage, notify leadership, and make sure everyone nearby is aware until the hazard is resolved. When Team Members speak up and take action, accidents are prevented before they happen. If you know there's a hazard, make sure everyone else knows too. Safety depends on awareness, accountability, and timely communication.
